

6. (a) Nuclear fusion and nuclear fission reactions both produce heat energy. Describe and compare controlled nuclear fission and nuclear fusion reactions. [6 QER]

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

- (b) A typical fusion reaction between tritium and deuterium is:

Calculate the number of fusion reactions needed each second to provide an energy output of 6.2 MJ every second. [2]

Number of reactions =

8

