

3. Digestion is a process whereby large food molecules are broken down into smaller molecules so they can be absorbed for use by the human body.

Describe the role of the enzyme amylase (carbohydrase) in the digestive system. [6 QER]

Include in your answer:

- where amylase is made
- how amylase works
- the conditions necessary for its action

